1. It was learned between 1 and 5 January 1951 that Soviet troops in battalion strength allegedly arrived in Sonneberg in early January. The troops were to be quartered along the zonal border in Kreis Sonneberg. Various houses were evacuated in Lichtenhain, allegedly to quarter a company. A Soviet detachment of one officer and nine EM had been quartered at the Kalte Kueche Inn, which is in Spechtsbrunn, Thuringia, in the area of Tettau, Upper Franconia. This detachment left on 3 January. There were no changes in the detachment of 60 to 70 Soviets stationed at Spechtsbrunn. From 30 to 100 Soviets arrived at Lehesten. They were quartered in three houses vacated by civilians.

2. On 2 and 3 January, a Volkspolizei Kommando of about 30 men was transferred from Hasenthal, Thuringia, allegedly to Lichtenau near Saalfeld. About seven Soviets were subsequently stationed in Hasenthal. About 40 German police were said to be billeted in private quarters in Lichtenau near Probstzella, Thuringia.

3. On 2 January, about five Soviet officers and 70 EM were quartered at the Frey inn in Jagdshof, 6 km east of Sonneberg. On 3 January, the Soviet commandant of Koeppelsdorf was replaced by an officer whose name and rank were not identified. On the same day, about 40 German police were quartered at the Kreuzer Factory in Unterlind. The castle was evacuated for the quartering of Soviet soldiers. Two private houses in Judenbach had to be vacated on short notice for the quartering of Soviet soldiers, but no soldiers had arrived by 3 January. A house in Adelshausen, previously occupied by Soviet soldiers, was vacated. Volkspolizei were allegedly to be quartered there. Soviet soldiers and Volkspolizei of undetermined strength moved into quarters in Streudorf on 4 January. Sixty police arrived in Holzhausen near Heldburg on 3 January. Sixty police arrived at Eishausen on 30 December 1950.

- 5. Up to 10 January, no observations of military interest had been made in Land Mecklenburg in the Ratzeburg-Schoenberg area as far as Lake Ratzeburg. *

25X1A * [REDACTED] Comment. Contrary to conditions along the British-Soviet zonal border, which have been constant for a long time, changes in the disposition of Soviet Army units employed for border guard duties and of the German Grenzpolizei Kommandos have been under way along the US-Soviet zonal border since late December 1950. [REDACTED] 25X1A
 It is not yet clear whether only a regrouping of units is concerned or whether reinforcements are also being sent to the border. There is a possibility that the observations reported are connected with a tightening of security measures along the border in the Eighth Gds Army area. The headquarters that has arrived in Oberhof may be in charge of all these measures.
